Terminate your membership of the 'a-kasse'

The Danish unemployment insurance system is a voluntary insurance scheme. This means that you are not automatically insured against unemployment when working in Denmark.

Therefore, you have to join a Danish unemployment insurance fund – 'a-kasse' – if you want to be covered by unemployment insurance in Denmark. And when you no longer want to be a member of the 'a-kasse' you must send your resignation to the 'a-kasse'.

The notice of resignation is as a general rule the current month + 1 month. You can find the notice of resignation in the a-kasse's statute.

If you start working in one of the other EU/EEA Member States, you should probably be subject to the social security legislation in that country. In this case you can terminate your membership of the Danish "a-kasse" the same day, you start working in the other country.

If you start working in a foreign country outside of EU, you can choose to continue your membership of the Danish a-kasse.

When you have terminated your membership, you must no longer pay contributions to the 'a-kasse', and you will no longer be covered by unemployment insurance in Denmark. This means that you will no longer be entitled to unemployment benefits in Denmark in case of unemployment.

Please contact your a-kasse if you have further questions.

In some of the 'a-kasse' you can terminate your membership by sending an e-mail or a written message to the 'a-kasse'. Be aware that you can't terminate your membership by texting (SMS). In some of the 'a-kasse' you must fill in a form of resignation.
